Summary

Working part-time is a good way to cover living and academic expenses while studying, but also a way to gain valuable work experience before graduating.

Part-time jobs are available both on and off campus. Various departments in the College recruit students for part-time and casual roles. If you’re looking to work off-campus, local employers recruit throughout the year.

The Careers & Employability Service can support you in finding a job, but we don’t directly place students. We are here to help you with the application process for a part-time position.

Good luck!

Attend the Part-time Jobs Fairs
Every year the Careers & Employability Service runs two Part-Time Jobs Fairs, one in the autumn term and another in the spring term. The Fairs are great opportunities to interact with on-campus and local employers offering part-time job opportunities.

In the 2017-18 Academic Year, the fairs will take place in the Students’ Union main hall. Students are not required to register for the event, but student ID is required on the day.

Autumn Part-Time Jobs Fair:
27th September 2017, 11.30am-2:30pm

Spring Part-Time Jobs Fair:
17th January 2018, 11.30am-2:30pm
Jobs off campus

The Egham area is host to a variety of businesses who are offering part-time job opportunities. Local businesses include hotels, sports clubs and theme parks as well as many restaurants and shops.

You can have a look at:
- Local hotels: Coworth Park Hotel, Beaumont Hotel
  Great Fosters, Runnymede-on-Thames Hotel
- Theme Parks such as Thorpe Park or Legoland Windsor

Here are some ways to find a part-time job off campus:

Get in contact with recruitment agencies

Some local recruitment agencies might have part-time jobs available. To look for an agency in your area, go to Agency Central, an online recruitment agency directory.

A few useful recruitment agencies websites are:
- University of London Temp Agency
- Reed
- Adecco
- Indeed
- Monster

Look for opportunities online and in print media

There are various online sources
- Social media: Egham jobs on Twitter
- Student websites: Student Jobs, Justjobs4students, Student Gems, Student Job
- Retail Jobs: InRetail
- Search "major employers in (your area)" then visit their vacancies/careers/jobs web page.

Local newspapers sometimes advertise part-time vacancies and are usually available from newsagents, or a free local newspaper may be delivered to your home.

Approach employers directly

Whilst responding to adverts is one way of finding a part-time job in certain industries, the face-to-face or speculative approach is often very effective in the retail, hospitality or customer service industries.
Local bars, pubs, restaurants, retail shops often display job adverts in their windows. You could also be proactive by printing off a CV and leaving it with staff responsible for recruitment. Larger companies such as superstores or coffee chains may not accept CVs on the spot and you might be required to apply online.

Other opportunities to find work

Here are some alternative ways to source work experience whilst studying:

- Tutoring children and adults
- Doing promotional work. PromoStar is a directory of promo agencies to help you find jobs in the industry.
- Paid surveys. Visit websites such as Toluna, MySurvey or Valued Opinions to find out more.
- Mystery shopping. Useful websites are MarketForce, GfK, Mystery Shoppers.
- Events and Festival Jobs. Use websites such as EventStaffing or Caterer. Or approach event staff agencies such as Renard Resources or At Your Service.
- Become a film or TV extra - Mad Dog Casting, Casting Collective, Angelstages are casting agencies that recruit film and TV extras.

Ask friends and family

A good way to find out about part-time job openings is to ask friends how they got their job and if their employer needs any more staff. This way you can find out about jobs before they are advertised.

Important Information

What is a National Insurance number and do I need one?

You will need a National Insurance number (NIN) to legally work in the UK. You have a National Insurance number to make sure your National Insurance contributions and tax are recorded against your name only.

To apply for one or for more information, visit gov.uk/apply-national-insurance-number.

Employment information

How many hours can I work?

20 hours a week. The University has set this limit so it doesn’t affect your studies, and gives you the right balance of work and lifestyle. This includes any unpaid work, such as working for a charity. Most employers are flexible, so if you feel 20 hours is too much, you can discuss this with your potential employer.

How much will I get paid?

The National Minimum Wage or The National Living Wage (NMW or NLW) is the minimum pay per hour required by law.

Do I need to pay any extras, such as tax?

If you have a job when you’re a student you may need to pay income tax and national insurance.

You will have to pay:

- Income tax if you earn more than £917 a month on average.

How much income tax you pay in each tax year depends on how much of your income is above your Personal Allowance and how much of this falls within each tax band. Some income is tax-free. The standard Personal Allowance is £11,000, which is the amount of income you don't have to pay tax on. For more details, please visit gov.uk/income-tax-rates.

- National insurance if you earn more than £155 a week

Your employer will usually deduct income tax and national insurance from your wages through Pay As You Earn (PAYE).

More information on taxation and national insurance can be found on direct.gov.uk.

Discrimination

Everybody is entitled to protection at work. If you feel you are treated unfairly at work, you can contact Support and Advisory Services for advice at welfare@royalholloway.ac.uk

EU Students

Most European Economic Area/Swiss nationals do not need to ask for permission from UK Visas and Immigration to work in the UK but will need to apply for a National Insurance number.

There has been no change to the rights and status of EU nationals in the UK, and UK nationals in the EU, as a result of the referendum. The UK remains a member of the EU throughout this process, and until Article 50 negotiations have concluded. Please note that this information is accurate at the date of print.

Croatian students

If you are from Croatia and you wish to work during your studies you have to apply for and be issued with a yellow registration card before you are legally entitled to work in the UK. The yellow card allows you to work 20 hours per week during term time and full time during the vacation. Further information can be found on www.gov.uk/croatian-national

International students

As a student on a Tier 4 visa you are entitled to remain in the UK for the entire course of study, plus an additional period at the end of your course. During this period you are entitled to work during your studies, as long the wording on your visa does not prohibit it.

Most students on full-time degree courses are given work restrictions.

If you are allowed to work, your visa will state that 'Work must be authorised'. This actually means that you have an automatic right to work. If you are not allowed to work, your visa will be endorsed 'No work' or 'Employment prohibited'.

Different work restrictions apply differently to Undergraduate, Postgraduate and Postgraduate Research Students (divert them to our webpage about working during studies)

Further information on your right to work is available from The UK Council for International Student Affairs (UKCISA).

The International Student Support Office (ISSO) at Royal Holloway can provide advice and support. Their services include immigration advice, airport collection, day trips and events as well as guidance with welfare issues to ensure you settle in well to your new life at Royal Holloway. For more information visit them in the ISSO in International Building or visit https://www.royalholloway.ac.uk/international/support/studentsupportservices/living-in-the-uk/workingduringyourstudies.aspx

Your career

In addition to being a good money-earner, part-time work is a fantastic way to enhance your CV and demonstrate to graduate employers that you've built up your employability skills.

Employers look for skills such as teamwork, communication, problem-solving and organisation, and the best applications for graduate jobs always include detailed examples of where you've used these skills and how you've developed them.

Remember that no matter what role you’re doing, you’ll always be learning something that you can use later on. For example, working in the College shop or in the Careers Service will enhance your teamwork and communication skills; working in catering will help you to work under pressure and use your initiative, and so on.

Keep track of this kind of evidence so that you can use it in future applications and interviews!
