

The Mellor Travel Award

Professor Jane Everson joined Royal Holloway in 1996 and served as Head of Department of Italian from 2002 to 2005 and continued to serve in a senior capacity within the School of Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures until her retirement in 2014. She was the recipient of two AHRC-funded collaborative projects on The Italian Academies (2006-9; 2010-14) and is the author of The Italian Romance Epic in the Age of Humanism: The Matter of Italy and the World of Rome (Oxford : Oxford University Press, 2001). The Mellor Travel Award is named in memory of her parents and is to provide a student the opportunity to travel to Italy to improve their language ability and confidence.

Conditions of the Award

1. The Award is open to first- or second-year undergraduate students of the College, in the Department of Modern Languages.
2. The Award is to enable students studying Italian to spend two weeks in Italy in order to improve their Italian language skills.
3. The student must spend a minimum of two weeks in Italy and be intending to continue their studies in Italian into the next academic year.
4. Applications will be considered by The Travel Awards and College Prizes Allocation Panel who will consult the Head of the Department of Modern Languages before making an award.
5. Recipients of the Award are required to submit a brief report of the activities for which they have utilised the Award. This report will be published on the Royal Holloway Travel Awards and College Prizes webpage.