

VICTORIAN MARITIME § A SYMPOSIUM

Saturday 9 June 2012

Institute for English Studies, Senate House, University of London

G37

University of London Nineteenth-Century Studies Seminar with the Centre for Victorian Studies, Royal Holloway

Programme

- 11.00 Welcome (Ruth Livesey)
- 11.05 Tim Armstrong, 'Ship and Shore: Life Saving as Spectacle in the Long Nineteenth Century'. Respondent: Anyaa Anim-Addo.
- 12.00 Felix Driver, 'Material Memories: The Pacific Albums of John Linton Palmer, Navy Surgeon'. Respondent: tbc.
- 12.55 LUNCH (provided for speakers and respondents; own arrangements for other participants)
- 1.50 Sophie Gilmartin, "'The Great Mediterranean of Oxford Street': Nineteenth-Century Navigations of City and Sea'. Respondent: Matt Rubery.
- 2.45 Robert Hampson, 'Maritime Secrets'. Respondent: Vanessa Smith.
- 3.40 Roundtable Discussion (with drinks)
- 4.00 DRINKS

Free registration, but please contact Jon Millington at the IES to indicate attendance via jon.millington@sas.ac.uk.

For further information regarding the programme please contact Ruth Livesey via ruth.livesey@rhul.ac.uk