Guide for Internal Competition: British Academy Global Professorships

The College would like to support one application to this scheme.

Scheme

The British Academy has recently announced details of a new 4 year Global Professorship Scheme, which aims to bring established mid-career to senior researchers within the Humanities and Social Science disciplines to a UK University, in order to complete a research project.

The College would like to support an application to this scheme and nominations are invited from all Departments. In order to give fair consideration, we would request that Departments operate internal selection and nominate one application to be considered by a central College panel.

Value

Up to £750,000 over 4 years

Duration: 4 years

Timeline: March 2019 competition

Internal deadline for EOIs- 18 January 2019. Please send to researchservices@rhul.ac.uk

Internal selection – January 2019

BA Deadline – 6 March 2019

Please include the following

- A summary of the planned project (Two A4 pages)
- A maximum two page CV
- The Head of the hosting Department to confirm their support, in particular detailing how the appointment would benefit the wider College research objectives and culture. Given this, departments may wish to consider cross-departmental sponsorship of these posts.

Please note that there is a match-funding part of this which could equate to c £35k per year and this would be set against department staff budgets and department should thus consider if this is the best strategic use of monies given the various staff initiatives they wish to support in the future.

In order to give fair consideration, we would request that Departments operate internal selection and nominate one application to be considered by a central College panel.

Internal selection will be made by the Faculty Associate Deans for Research supported by Research & Innovation
